LIFESAVING OXYGEN... RIGHT AWAY!

When oxygen is needed in an emergency, it's usually needed right away! Promptly administered by a trained police officer, it often means the difference between life and death. The new LINDE Emergency Oxygen Unit is the ideal first aid emergency oxygen unit for police and rescue squad use. Developed and manufactured by Linde Company, leading manufacturers of oxygen for more than 50 years, this unit has been tested and approved by doctors at a leading medical center.*

The dangerous minutes in any respiratory crisis are numbered from the time a victim is stricken until a larger oxygen supply can be brought to him or until he can be moved for treatment where oxygen is available.

Stressing the effectiveness of this unit, these doctors reported: "At the end of one minute (of oxygen administration) the oxygen content (in the blood) consistently exceeded that found when the patient was breathing atmospheric concentrations of oxygen."*

Many accidents or disasters require the simultaneous administration of oxygen to several persons. The size, light weight and low cost of these units make it possible to store several in police cars, in preparation for emergencies.

The LINDE Emergency Oxygen Unit, contains an adequate supply of oxygen in a handy, economical, disposable package. The complete unit includes a 90 liter (15 minute) supply of LINDE U. S. P. oxygen, a preset regulator which delivers an even, controlled flow of approximately 6 liters per minute, a plastic oxygen mask and supply tube, an instruction booklet and a handy carrying case.

The complete unit weighs only five lbs. Only $19.95 complete. Replacement (90 liter) oxygen supply cylinders are only $10.95. Available from your local Linde distributor, leading safety equipment and surgical supply dealers, and drugstores everywhere.

The Chaplain's Corner

The White Line

SEVERAL YEARS AGO I was traveling by car along a highway which lead upward into a mountain. As if from nowhere a fog dropped down, making visibility nil. It was impossible to see three feet beyond the radiator of my car. To stop the car would put me in a vulnerable position of being hit from behind, as I blocked the road. To go forward meant taking a chance of running off the road and perhaps tumbling down the deep ravine of the mountain-side.

What should I do? There was no time to ponder over a decision. But the answer was right before my eyes—follow the white line which was painted in the center of the road. That was visible a foot at a time. Slowly I followed the guide until it led me into the sunlight.

There is not a human being who does not encounter a situation or problem which so engulfs him that he cannot foresee the end. These are the moments of despair and frustration which are part of living. Every man needs a "white line" to guide him through his darkness.

My experience in the fog called to mind the fact that my way was made easier because someone had gone before me and marked the way. If I followed the line faithfully, no disaster would come—only if I ignored the signs would my difficulties increase.

Someone has gone before us all. Jesus Christ was born in Nazareth over nineteen hundred years ago. He came to earth to teach men how to live. He mapped out our way and He showed the way. Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life" (John 14:6).

It is fortunate for us that we have a chart to guide us through the rough seas of life. By being patient and faithful, it will lead us into the calm waters of peace and security.

END
